Most business owners work tirelessly to build a successful company, yet few intentionally plan how they will eventually step away from it. The result? Missed opportunities, unnecessary stress, and exits that happen to them instead of for them. This session reframes exit planning as a growth strategy, not an end-of-the-road conversation. You'll discover how early decision-making can increase enterprise value, protect personal wealth, reduce risk, and create options.

Session Goals:

- A clearer understanding of what your ideal exit actually looks like
- Insights into common mistakes owners make by waiting too long
- Practical strategies to strengthen your business now while keeping future options open
- A mindset shift from reactive to intentional ownership

This event is ideal for owners at any stage of business, because the best exits aren't rushed, they're designed early!
